

OLE MISS BASKETBALL HISTORICAL TIMELINE

January 28, 1909

Ole Miss plays its first organized basketball game, but the celebration is cut short by a 12-11 loss to the Memphis Physicians. Legend has it that Ole Miss led 7-6 at the half, but lost out in the second half when "with the wind at their backs, the Physicians overcame our half-time lead for a narrow victory." The game was reportedly played outdoors on a court located behind the Lyceum on the Oxford campus.

February 17, 1909

Ole Miss decides to save the best for last as the team records its first ever victory the last game of the season with a 28-11 win over Mississippi College. Ole Miss finishes the 1909 season 1-4.

1922

One year after the organization's formation, Ole Miss joins the Southern Conference.

January 27, 1925

With a 35-17 victory over Centenary, Ole Miss collects its 100th victory in the program's history.

May 1, 1926

A 38-23 loss to North Carolina in the championship game of the Southern Conference Tournament ends a win streak for Ole Miss, as the team rolled out a 12-game overall and nine-game away/neutral win streak. The 12-game streak, which started Jan. 16, 1926, with a road victory over rival LSU, remained the longest in school history until the 2007-08 squad put together 13 straight wins.

February 28, 1928

After rattling off victories over N.C. State, LSU and Kentucky, a 31-30 win over Auburn made Ole Miss Southern Conference Tournament Champions. (see story inset) Coach Homer Hazel's Mississippians finished the 1928 season 10-9.

December 8-9, 1932

At the annual Southern Conference meeting in Knoxville, Tenn., Ole Miss along with the other 12 schools west and south of the Appalachian Mountains reorganized to form the Southeastern Conference. Ten of those charter members (Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, LSU, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Tennessee and Vanderbilt) still remain as members of the SEC.

1928 Southern Conference Tournament Champions

TEAM OF DESTINY WINS IT - GREAT RALLY TURNS TIDE

By Morgan Blake
(originally published in the 1928 Ole Miss Yearbook)

Ole Miss, the Team of Destiny, is champion of the South in basketball. A fighting clan that refused to surrender when the clouds were blackest today is king of the great indoor game.

It was an amazing and courageous comeback that won the title for Ole Miss after Auburn had taken a twelve-point lead in the second half and seemed as sure of winning as anything in this uncertain world can be.

The score at one stage of the second half was, Auburn 25, Ole Miss 13. The thousand or more Auburn students and alumni in the auditorium were in the seventh heaven of delight. They smelled the bacon frying and they knew the feast was for them. The Tigers had been outplaying their enemies all the way through and were marching on to glory and fame. Some of the spectators were yawning a bit. Many were a bit sorry for Ole Miss and hoped they would make just a few more points so as not to be humiliated.

And then - Captain Robert M. Lee, the long, lanky leader of the Mississippians, rallied his clan for a final desperate drive. It was the last charge of the old guard. Up the slope they came, snarling, growling, fighting their way through all obstacles. The Tigers, surprised by the sudden fury of a team that had been so docile, wavered before the charge. Doggedly they fought back, but the storm engulfed them. The Team of Destiny was on its way. Two points, two points, two points! With monotonous regularity Ole Miss was sinking them. Now they are just two points behind. Now they are even. Now they are two points ahead. And it's a minute and three-quarters to play. Captain Lee fouls, and Auburn shoots a free throw. Now it's Ole Miss, 31; Auburn, 30.

The seconds were about gone. Down the floor comes Auburn with the last spring left in the Tiger. A desperate try for a goal that goes wild. The pistol cracks. The game is over. The Team of Destiny had won by one little point, which, however, was as big as Stone Mountain so far as the effectiveness of it was concerned.

The grim gods of fate who had given Auburn one-point victories over Clemson and Georgia Tech in the early games of the tournament deserted the Tigers in the big crisis, and smiled upon the opposition. The grim gods often do things like that.

January 10, 1936

In the first game of the 1936 season, Ole Miss reached its 200th win in the program's history with a 41-40 squeaker over Memphis Coca-Cola. Forward George Clay led the attack for Ole Miss with 13 points.

May 5, 1938

A 58-47 loss to Georgia Tech in the SEC Tournament Championship Game ends a nine-game overall SEC win streak by the Rebels that started Feb. 5, 1938, with a 45-44 win over in-state rival Mississippi State.

1937-38

Bonnie Graham leads the SEC in scoring with his 17.4 average, the first player to ever average more than 17 a game in the SEC. In the conference tournament, he scores 71 points and a single-game high of 27. Graham also becomes Ole Miss' first basketball All-America selection.

A star left-handed pitcher, Joe Gibbon was on a baseball scholarship at Ole Miss and had to ask hoops coach Country Graham for permission to report for basketball. Lucky for the Rebels, Coach Graham agreed, and Gibbon put together a remarkable season in 1957 when he finished second in the nation in scoring with 30.1 points per game. The talented athlete went on to enjoy a 13-year Major League Baseball career.

B.L. "Country" Graham, who was the first All-American basketball player in school history, also stands as the second all-time winningest coach in program annals with 144 wins from 1950-62. In the picture above, he runs through plays with pupil and future Ole Miss head coach Cob Jarvis.

He played just one season before turning pro, but in 1970-71 Johnny Neumann put up numbers that may never again be reached by a Rebel, or any other Southeastern Conference player. Neumann led the nation with a 40.1 scoring average, by far a school record and behind only Pete Maravich's three legendary seasons in the league record books. Neumann still owns five of the top six single-game scoring marks in school history. Despite also being an Academic All-American, he left school after his sophomore season to join the Memphis Tams of the ABA, and enjoyed a seven-year career in the ABA and NBA.

February 26, 1945

Ole Miss achieves its 300th win in the last regular-season game of the year with a 76-24 stomping of Arkansas State. Three Rebels hit double-digit scoring that night with M.C. McMullen collecting 20, Doug Krell posting 13 and Bob McCain with 12.

December 10, 1953

A new record is set for the Rebels as the team reaches the most points scored by Ole Miss in a single game with a 118-82 win over Union. Cob Jarvis leads the way with 37 points on 13 field goals and 11 free throws. Denver Brackeen follows close behind with 31 points.

January 17, 1955

With former Rebel B.L. "Country" Graham as head coach, Ole Miss records its 400th win in program history by beating Vanderbilt 77-63.

1954-55

While being chosen as UPI's SEC Player of the Year and AP's SEC Most Valuable Player, center Denver Brackeen becomes the program's second player selected to All-America honors. His 27.2 scoring average leads the league.

1956-57

After becoming only the second player in SEC history to average more than 30 points, forward Joe Gibbon is named to multiple All-America teams.

February 22, 1958

Coach Graham once again makes Ole Miss history as he collects his 100th win as head coach, making him the first Ole Miss coach to reach the century mark. The Rebels helped accomplish this with an 83-68 victory over Tulane.

1963-64

A star on the court and on the baseball diamond, guard Don Kessinger is named an All-American after setting 18 Ole Miss basketball records.

January 30, 1965

After edging out Tulane with a 62-60 win in Oxford, Ole Miss reaches the 500-win mark for the program's history. Two Rebels had double-doubles with Fred Stanley collecting 21 points and 12 rebounds and Jim Robbins posting 13 points and 10 rebounds. Jack Steinhart and James Bobe also greatly contributed with 17 rebounds and 11 points, respectively.

February 21, 1966

Ole Miss basketball gets a new home in the Rebel Coliseum, later to be named after then-Athletics Director C.M. "Tad" Smith. However, Kentucky spoils the inaugural game by defeating the Rebels 108-65.

Forward Johnny Neumann earns All-America honors in his first and only season as a Rebel, setting numerous school records along the way.

December 7, 1974

The program collects its 600th victory by defeating Texas in Oxford 82-74. Four Rebels scored in double digits with Bob Mahoney pacing the team with 21 points. Herb Wright followed with 18 points while Dave Shepard had 15 and Walter Actwood 13.

1978-79

After leading the SEC in scoring with 26.3 points per game, forward John Stroud receives All-America honorable mention plaudits.

Known among Rebel circles as "Mr. Clutch," Carlos Clark finished his impressive Ole Miss career having buried four game-winning shots at the buzzer, including a 15-footer on March 6, 1980, that gave Ole Miss its first postseason win, 76-74, over Grambling in the NIT Clark's freshman season. He went on to be drafted by the Boston Celtics, and helped them to the 1984 NBA Championship.

Bob Weltlich is carried off the court by his Rebel players after the 1981 SEC Tournament Championship victory over Dominique Wilkins and the Georgia Bulldogs.

March 6, 1980

Ole Miss earns its first postseason tournament victory after getting by Grambling 76-74 at Tad Smith Coliseum. The road to the NIT championship had to end, though, when Minnesota proved to be too much and defeated the Rebels 58-56.

1979-80

Earning the highest career point total in Ole Miss history and still the third-most in league annals with 2,328 points, John Stroud is selected to All-America honors for the second straight season.

March 7, 1981

The underdog Rebels, who finished sixth in the league in the regular season, defeated Tennessee and Vanderbilt before earning the title with a 66-62 upset of Georgia in the finals of the 1981 SEC Tournament, propelling Ole Miss to its NCAA Tournament debut.

March 13, 1981

The Rebels play in their first NCAA Tournament and barely miss a second-round showing with a narrow 69-66 defeat to perennial power Kansas in Wichita.

December 18, 1982

Ole Miss posts the 700th win in program history with a 67-60 victory over Central Arkansas in Oxford. The Rebels sealed the victory behind Carlos Clark and Roger Steig's 16 points apiece.

1981-82

Forward Carlos Clark is named AP All-America honorable mention following a junior year in which he scored 21.1 points per game and helped Ole Miss to an 18-12 record and NIT appearance. Between his junior and senior seasons, Clark had a streak of 37 straight games in which he posted double-figure point totals.

1987-88

Becoming the first player in Ole Miss history to record 500 points, 100 rebounds and 100 assists, guard Rod Barnes is named to an honorable mention All-American and finished third in the coaches' balloting for SEC Player of the Year.

March 4, 1989

Ole Miss defeats LSU 113-112 in overtime in perhaps the greatest one-on-one duel in Southeastern Conference history. LSU's Chris Jackson tallied 55 points, while the Rebels' Gerald Glass hit for 53. The 108 combined points is the most by two players in an SEC game. More importantly, Glass led Ole Miss to victory in dramatic fashion. With seven minutes left in overtime, Glass had 47 points, but had missed seven straight shots while going scoreless for the final four minutes of regulation and the first three minutes of overtime. LSU led 110-107, and Glass had been pestered by four different Tiger defenders to make him exhausted. But with a final surge, Glass tipped in a rebound to narrow the margin to one point, hit a 3-pointer to tie the score and drained the free throw with nine seconds left that gave Ole Miss the victory in the regular-season finale.

1988-89

In his first season as a Rebel, forward Gerald Glass is named an honorable mention All-American.

"World Class" Gerald Glass was a household name and a fan favorite during his two standout seasons with Ole Miss. He was thought by many to be the top college player in the nation his senior season, when he earned his second straight All-America honorable mention accolade. Glass was taken in the first round of the 1990 NBA Draft and played for Minnesota, Detroit, New Jersey and Charlotte during his pro career.

Ansu Sesay cuts down the nets following the Rebels' 74-68 win over LSU that propelled them to the 1997 SEC Western Division title. It was the first of four SEC West titles for Ole Miss. Sesay was part of back-to-back titles, celebrating the 1998 crown in his All-American senior season.

March 9, 1990

Ole Miss marks its 800th program victory with a 65-62 win over Vanderbilt during the SEC Tournament. Gerald Glass and Tim Jumper help the Rebels edge by the Commodores with their 15-point performances. Patrick Eddie played his part by recording a double-double with 14 points and 10 rebounds.

1989-90

After finishing his two-year career at Ole Miss with 1,564 points, Gerald Glass receives his second All-America honorable mention accolade.

June 27, 1990

Gerald Glass becomes the first Ole Miss player to be selected in the first round of the NBA Draft. He went 20th overall to the Minnesota Timberwolves.

January 11, 1997

Ole Miss upends No. 3-ranked and defending national champion Kentucky 73-69. The upset snapped the Wildcats' 14-game win streak and propelled the Rebels to their first top-25 ranking in school history, jumping to No. 20 in the AP poll. That season began an unprecedented Rebel run of six straight postseason appearances and back-to-back SEC Western Division championships.

February 26, 1997

Coach Rob Evans leads the Rebels to win their first SEC Western Division title after defeating LSU 74-68 in the last home game of the regular season.

February 11, 1998

Ole Miss hits 900 victories with an 87-76 win over Vanderbilt. All-Americans Keith Carter and Ansu Sesay push the Rebels to the victory. Carter collected 17 points, three assists and three rebounds, while Sesay posted 14 points, including a 2-for-2 night from behind the arc, and 12 rebounds.

February 28, 1998

The program gets its second straight SEC Western Division title after recording a 74-67 win versus Auburn in the regular-season finale. Ole Miss went on to receive a No. 4 seed in the NCAA Tournament, but a little-known team from Valparaiso spoils the Rebels' postseason plans.

December 29, 1998

Ole Miss claims its largest margin of victory in a single game with a 111-50 win over Prairie View. The game also marked the third time that season that Ole Miss broke triple digits in scoring.

One of two Rebels to ever record 1,000 points, 600 rebounds and 200 assists, forward Ansu Sesay is named a consensus All-American, as well as receiving SEC Player of the Year honors. "We Say Sesay" becomes a familiar chant among Rebel fans, and Sesay does his part by scoring in double figures for the final 53 games of his career.

March 12, 1999

After losing a heartbreaker at the buzzer to Valparaiso just the season before in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament, the Rebels record their first NCAA Tournament win by defeating Villanova 72-70. Ole Miss did not make it to the Sweet 16 because Michigan State defeated the Red and Blue 74-66 in the second round.

January 13, 1999

Homecourt advantage was an understatement for the Rebels in the late 1990s. From Jan. 11, 1997 to this date Ole Miss went on a 29-home game winning streak. However, all good things must come to an end, and Auburn ended the Rebels' streak with a 74-59 win.

1998-99

Finishing atop the Ole Miss three-pointers chart with 249 for his career, guard Keith Carter is named an honorable mention All-American.

March 3, 2001

After crushing Alabama 105-71, Ole Miss earns its third SEC Western Division title. Jason Holmes tallies a game-high 26 points on the night after going 7-of-13 shooting, including 5-of-9 from three-point range. Jason Flanigan contributes 17 points with 10 of those coming from the free throw line.

March 18, 2001

It took the smallest Rebel of all time to hit the biggest shot in Ole Miss hoops history. Coming off only their second NCAA Tournament win ever, the Rebels found themselves trailing Notre Dame by one point with a minute remaining in the second round of the 2001 Big Dance. With the shot clock running down and 48 seconds left, 5-foot-5 Jason Harrison drilled a deep three from the top of the arc to hand Ole Miss a two-point advantage that it would not relinquish en route to a 59-56 victory. One of the more memorable moments of the 2001 tourney, Harrison's trey propelled Ole Miss to the program's first Sweet 16 appearance and highlighted the finest season in school history, as the Rebels fin-

Jason Harrison drained several big shots during his career, but none more significant than the deep trey that found the bottom of the net in the waning moments of the 2001 NCAA Tournament second-round game vs. Notre Dame. The bucket propelled Ole Miss to a 59-56 win and its first trip to the Sweet Sixteen.

OLE MISS BASKETBALL ALL-CENTURY TEAM

Highlighting the season-long celebration of the "First 100 Years of Ole Miss Basketball" in 2008-09, Ole Miss athletics officials proudly announced on Feb. 12, 2009, the C Spire All-Century Team. The honorees were publically recognized during halftime of the Feb. 21 home game vs. Georgia.

The All-Century Team was selected following a vote of fans on OleMissSports.com and a committee of officials from the athletics department and the M-Club Alumni Chapter. The fans' top 10 choices automatically qualified, and the remaining spots were chosen by the committee. The ballot included any Rebel that earned All-SEC honors or scored 1,000 or more points in his career, excluding current players, for a total of 41 nominees. Fans also had the opportunity to email write-in votes.

The All-Century Team was not divided by position or first, second or third team, as all 19 players hold the same rank on the squad.

The team includes all 13 Rebels that earned All-America honors in their career and the top nine scorers in school history at the time. The list also contains three Associated Press SEC Players of the Years (Denver Brackeen, 1955; Johnny Neumann, 1971; Ansu Sesay, 1998). While honored for their performances as players, the All-Century Team coincidentally includes three of the four winningest coaches in school history (B.L. "Country" Graham, 145 wins; Rod Barnes, 141; Cob Jarvis, 87).

patented hook shot, nicknamed "Country's Fadeaway." In his All-America season, Graham scored 575 points, an average of 17.9 points per game. Graham also earned three football letters for Ole Miss as an end. He went on to serve as head basketball coach for the Rebels from 1950-62.
